

Each rule's score across its own sensible threshold range

Set cover barely responds to where its knob is set; the rule it replaced swings six times as far between two defensible settings. Given a held-out split, that is the argument for shipping it -- not the +0.004 in score.