

Four failure modes, and only one of them is a segmentation error

Mode A is the dominant one: the task defines an item as one pickable unit, while a class-agnostic segmenter sees visual coherence and cannot know that clear plastic is a container rather than a window.